PASSED THE SCHOOL BILL

SUNATORS APPROVE THE MEASUR

Seriet Party Vote After the Bemocrats Had Made Their Final Effort to Kill the Bill Senator Canter's Argument Senator Kochler to Hold His Seat. ALBANY, March 31,-The compromise School bill, abolishing the ward trustees in w York city, passed the Senate to day by a strict party vote of 31 to 13. It was recommended by Gov. Morton in a special message a sembly within a few days. The bill was a special order in the Senate this morning. Senator Cantor moved to recommit it on the excued that it had been amended since the public hearings were held, and that the changes necessitated further hearings.

short time ago and it will be passed by the As-

Senator Stranahan, Chairman of the Cities Committee, explained that the only amendment was in the section which authorizes the Board of Estimate and Apportionment to provice by taxation for the payment of salaries, and provides that, until such provision is made, such salaries may be paid by the Comptroller out of unexpended balances or by the issue of revenue bonds. These provisions were originially mandatory, and the amendment consisted in making them permissive. The change had been made at the suggestion of Comptroller Fitch, and did not affect the features of the bill which were in controversy. Senator Cantor's motion to recommit the bill was lost.

The principal speech in support of the bill was made by Senator Ford of New York, who has come to be recognized generally as one of the ablest debaters in the Senate. He said that this criticism was directed against the ward trustee system without regard to which party made use of its opportunities for favortism and corruption. Because of it, the school system had suffered in Democratic New York just as it had suffered in Republican Philadelphia. In New York, the school system was intimately associated with Tammany politics, and no one knew it better than Senator Ahearn, who was so strongly opposed to the bill. Senator Ford read extracts from an article by Dr. J. M. Rice, on the evils of the trustee system. He went on to say that whenever the Board of Education desired to appoint a principal it had no power beyond accepting or rejecting the nomination made by the trustees, which might be, and often was, manifestly unfit.

Senator Cantor read an extract from a letter written to him by Dr. Rice within a few days to the effect that a reform was needed in the school system, but that it could not be accomplished by the sholltion of the trustees. Dr. Rice, he said, was apparently against such abolition.

Senator Ford said that Dr. Rice was clearly itism and corruption. Because of it, the abolition.

Senator Ford said that Dr. Rice was clearly of the opinion that the reform should go further, to the end that the removal of teachers might be made by the Board of Education. It was not true that Dr. Rice favored the retention of the trustee system, which he regarded as a most pernicious insutution.

Senator Grady said the bill meant that the last vestige that binds the common people to the public schools in the city of New York was to be biotted out.

the public schools in the city of New York was to be blotted out.

Senator White of Syracuse, who is well known as an effective orator in his home county, made his maiden speech in favor of the bill, and received the rare compilment of close at entire from Kepublicans and Democrats alike. Senators Pavey and Stranahan also spoke in favor of the bill, and Senator Forey against it.

snoke in favor of the bill, and Senator Foley against it.

The report of the Committee on Privileges and Elections on the contest for Senator Koehler's seat, which was made by John Lewis Childs of Floral Park, L. I., was also a special order for be day. The ground of the contest was that Mr. Koehler was heligible, inasmuch as he was a member of the Board of Supervisors at the time of his election. The committee held that a Supervisor is a county, and not a city, officer, in which case he is not ineligible. It recommended that the contest be dismissed. Senator Lexow expressed his dissent, but stated that beyond doing so he would offer no objection to the unanimus adoption of the report. It was then adopted.

THE ACETYLENE GAS BILL. Assistant Corporation Counsel Clarke Argues Against It.

Assistant Corporation Counsel Clarke appeared in behalf of the city administration in general, and Public Works Commissioner Collis is particular, to protest against the measure.

He stated that the privilege of tearing up the streets without let or hindrance is possessed already by seven companies, including two gas companies, and that the city and the citizens companies, and that the city and the citizens are subject to continual annoyance because of that fact. He argued that similar privileges should not be granted to any new company without the vesting of some discretionary power with the Commissioner of Public Works. A. B. Boardman of Tracy, Boardman & Platt also argued against the bill, and Edward Lauterbach appeared in behalf of the Acetylene Company.

Acetylene Company.

The sentiment of the committee is apparently against reporting the bill, and a motion will be made probably upon the floor of the Assembly within a few days to discharge the committee from further consideration of it. If the motion prevails, the bill will be brought before the Assembly, and an attempt will be made to pass it in spite of the adverse judgment of the committee.

J. Archibald Murray, for the property owners, was the only one who appeared in opposition to the measure. His main argument was to the effect that the passage of the bill would mean a loss of at least $3,750,000 to the city. This would be prought about by the relief accorded in the bill to the contractor by not compelling in the bill to the contractor by not compelling him to pay anything into the sinking fund for the first five years.

Another ground of opposition was that the bill permitted a hostern

Another ground of opposition was that the bill permitted a business corporation to operate a railroad in the State, which was in violation of the law. The bill further crippled the city as to its ownership. When the lease expired the city would own only a hole in the ground and the contractors would own the ventilating plant, the overhead wires, and the power house. Mr. Murray said he appeared for some of the largest estates along the rapid transit route. If the bill passed, it should be amended so that the property rights would be considered and be protected.

House Debate on the Attitude of the Man utacturers' Club to Free filtrer,

WASHINGTON, March 31.-The monotony of routine consideration of the Sundry Civil Ap-propriation bill in Committee of the Whole House to day was enlivened by several references to some political and financial events of recent date. Mr. Adams (Rep., Pa.) directed attention to the reports that representatives of the Manufacturers' Club of Philadelphia, in conference with certain persons in Washington, had committed the club to supporting the free cottage of silver in exchange for protective tariff influence. He sent to the clerk's desk and had read the resolutions adopted last night by the club, as refuting the reports. Mr. Hartman (Rep., Mont.) said that published reports were incorrect; that the silver men were not responsible for the conference, and that the conference had been held at the request of the club members. Mr. Allen (Rep., Utah) confirmed the statement that no bargain or agreement had been reached at the conference.

Mr. Pickler (Rep., S. D.) had read the finan-cial platform adouted by the Republican Convention of that State on last Wednesday, to disprove the stories that the Republicans there had changed their attitude toward silver.

During the consideration of the Sundry Civil Appropriation bill attempts were made to amend it to increase the appropriation for the salary of the Superintendent of the Coast and Geodetic Survey from $5,000 to $6,000, the amount fixed by law; to strike out the appropriation of $50,000 for detecting and punishing violations of the internal revenue laws, and to strike out the appropriation of $10,500 for food, fuel, and clothing for the Indians on the Pribyloy Islands. Alaska, all of which failed.

The House passed the Senate joint resolutions directing the Secretary of War to prepare plans and estimates for deepening the channel into Portland, Me., harbor to 30 feet; to secure a 25-foot ship channel, 400 feet wide, in Providence River and Narragansett Bay from Sassafras Point to the ocean, and to expend $20,000 for walls to the canal locks at the Cascades, Columbia River, Or.

The Peffer resolution for an investigation into all the facts and circumstances of recent bond issues was not reached in the Senate today, as had been expected. Mr. George (Dem., Miss.) occupied nearly the entire session with an argument against the claim of Mr. Dupont to the vacant seat for Delaware. Mr. Peffer gave notice, however, that at the close of Mr. George's speech to morrow he would ask the Senate to proceed with the consideration of his resolution.

About half an hour was given to the consid-

Senate to proceed with the consideration of his resolution.

About half an hour was given to the censideration of the Post Office bill, which appropriates $93,000,000, of which nearly $13,000,000 will go to defray the expense of the free delivery system. A discussion was started on an amendment reported from the Appropriation Committee allowing $80,000 a year, in addition to the present compensation of $50,000, to the Oceanic Steamship Company for mail transportation from Sus Francisco to New Zealand and New South Whies. The question was not decided when the Senate at 5 P. M. adjourned uatil to-morrow.

KILLED BY SNOW SWEEPER

SALESMAN GAITHER'S SKULL WAS FRACTURED.

When He Was Run Over by the Cable Road Sweeper In Columbus Avenue He Apparently Escaped Serious Injury and Was Discharged That Day from the Mospital. Charles F. Gaither, the travelling salesman for the Taunton Locomotive and Manufacturing Company of Taunton who was caught by and rolled in front of the steel revolving brush of a Metropolitan Traction Company's snow sweeper at Eighty-first street and Columbus avenue early on the morning of March 10, died of his injuries on Monday night at the Grand Union Hotel. Gaither was a single man, 30 years old, and lived at Erie, Pa. He came to this city for a visit on the Saturday before the accident. On Sunday afternoon he took dinner with Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Saunders at their home at 222 West Eighty-third street. It was the night of the biggest snow storm of the season, and Mr. and Mrs. Saunders urged him to stay at their house all night. He partly consented, and the three sat and talked and entertained each other until about 3 o'clock on Monday morning. Then Mr. Gaither concluded that he would go to his hotel, the Grand Union, and get his baggage, so as to catch the earliest train out for Boston, where he had business. When he got to the crossing of Eighty-first street and Columbus avenue he waited for a cable car. Presently the lantern of one hove in sight through the storm. Mr. Gaither sig-nalled for the car to stop, but it did not do so. As it passed him he tried to jump on the rear nalled for the car to stop, but it did not do so. As it passed him he tried to jump on the rear platform. Mr. Saunders save that there were four men on this platform at the time, and that one of these was Superintendent of Gripmen Kane.

One main, he says, pushed the gate of the car shut as Gaither tried to get on, and Gaither was thrown to the street. The car was drawing the sweeper, and in an instant Gaither was under the ponderous whizzing machine.

Kane, when telling of the accident afterward, said that the first he knew of it was when he heard Gaither scream after he fell under the machine. The car and sweeper were stopped, and Pollecunan Henjamin Smith extricated Gaither. He was unconcions and a mass of rags, mud, and slush. He was badity bruised on one thigh and on the right side of his head above the ear. He was taken first to a restaurant and from there to floose velt Hospital. When he recovered consclousness he sent for Mr. Saunders.

Mr. Saunders wanted everything needed done for his friend, but that afternoon the hospital doctors told him that Gaither was all right, and so he removed him to the Grand Union Hotel. There Dr. J. H. Hillings took charge of him. The injuries to his thigh soon called for a surgical operation, which was performed by Dr. Frank Hartley, After that Gaither seemed to be getting well, and on Friday night he was so strong that Mr. Saunders expected to see him out in a day or two, let omplained, however, of a constant, violent headache, and Saunders tied a wet towel about his head that night before he left him. The next morning a chambermaid found Gaither unconscious, and he remained in a comatose condition until he died. His symptoms indicated a fracture of the skull, and this proved to have been the cause of death, as was shown yesterday when an autopy was performed by Dr. J. S. Thatcher of the Presbyterian Haspital and Coroner's Physician Philip F. O'Hanion.

The bedy was taken to Erle last night by W. H. Gaither, a brother of the dead man.

Brooklyn Bridge will be a scorching blast for the present trustees. It will be accompanied with a bill putting them out of office and pro-viding for a new Commission of four. The bill will provide also that no trustee shall be associ-ated with a corporation or business concern having dealings with the bridge management. This clause, it is said, is directed against cer-tain bridge officials who are interested in trolley roads.

A second bill will provide for the reorganization of the Brooklyn Charities Department under a single Commissioner, to be appointed by Mayor Wurster.
A bill will be recommended also for the establishment in Brooklyn of a bureau similar to that of the Commissioners of Accounts in New York. The Commission is to consist of the City Auditor and two others, one of whom is to be appointed by the Mayor, and the other by the President of the Board of Aldermen.

SARONY COLLECTION SALE.

Small Prices Fetched at the First Bay of the Auction.

The sale of Napoleon Sarony's collection of pictures and curios was begun yesterday afternoon at the American Art Galleries. The afternoon sale included about 200 vases, costumes, and pieces of antique furniture. A lot of South Sea Island curios were also soid. Small prices were realized. An old Japanese joy bell of sliver brouze, weighing over 1900 pounds, went at the highest figure, $70. An old oak cabinet brought $50, an old tapestry $37, and an old oak chair, which, it is said, has been used by hundreds of celebrities, soid for $15.

The evening saie included the Nature and Art series, which are the originals of Sarony's Living Pictures, the charcal drawings by Mr. Sarony, and also his collection of oil and water-color paintings. The same scale of prices prevalled as at the afternoon sale, and a charcost of "Venus Aphrodite" headed the list at $75, Gen. Collis, Commissioner of Public Works, paid $5 for some "Studies," and $72,30 for a pastel potrrait of Gen. W. T. Sherman.

A charcost of "Mossellill Gurge," by F. Hopkinson Smith, soid for $8, and a pastel of Marie Tempest, by Sarony, went for $10. The total of the morning saie was $807,00, and of the evening saie $1,025,75, making a total of $1,803,25. The sale will be continued this afternoon and evening. of South Sea Island curios were also sold.

site His House and Parsnes Him When Me Goes Out Tries Later to Inveloie Him Out Gets the Police to Protect Him. Dr. Frederick M. Bauer of 225 East Eighte. sixth street was routed out of bed at 2 o'clock on Mombay morning by a hurry call to attend the confinement of the wife of George V. Swainson, who lives in a flat on the second floor at 215 East Eighty-fourth street. The Doctor responded to the summons and hurried over to the house. The child was born at 2:45 o'clock, and after giving his instructions he went away saying that he would call again at 11 o'clock that morning. At 10 o'clock Mrs. Henry C. Edwards, a sister of Mrs. Swainson, went to the doctor's house and said that the child was ill. She left word for him to come over immediately. Dr. Bauer attended to the call as soon as possible, and reached the house again at 11 o'clock, as he had intended to do. both mother and child doing well, notwith-standing the fact that his instructions had not been faithfully carried out. He was mildly berated by Mrs. Edwards, in the presence of Mrs. Swainson, for being so long in responding. Soon after the Doctor's departure the baby died. At 1 o'clock, while Dr. Bauer was sitting in his rear office, the door bell rang. Mrs. Edwards, who was ushered in, showered a torrent of abuse on Dr. Bauer, accusing him of being the cause of the child's death through his neglect. When he finally showed her the door

the cause of the child's death through his neglect. When he finally showed her the door she turned around and struck him a stingling blow on the point of his nose with her clenched fist.

Shortly after Mrs. Edwards had gone Mr. Swainson called. Finding that Dr. Bauer had an athletic friend with him, Mr. Swainson merely paid the Doctor's fee, and, after having borrowed a match with which he lighted his cigar in the Doctor's office, he wert out. Two hours later Mr. Edwards called and asked for an explanation of the Doctor's conduct toward his wife. As Dr. Bauer's athletic-looking friend was still in the office, Mr. Swainson postponed any aggressive action, and asked Dr. Bauer to come into the front room. This the Doctor refused to do. He went to the door, however, called in a policeman, and told him to take Mr. Edwards out of the house. This the policeman did. Mr. Edwards then stood on the oposite side of the street and shook his first at Dr. Bauer's house.

Five minutes later Dr. Bauer started toward Second avenue on the next hide of the street. Edwards started after him on the south side. The Doctor hastened his pace. Edwards did the same. Not wishing to get in a fight with Edwards, Dr. Rauer took refuge in a drug store at Englity-sixth street and Second avenue. He there sent word to the East Eighty-eighth street station and asked for police protection. Policeman Cavanagh escorted Dr. Bauer home. Edwards returned to his post on the opposite side of the attest and resumed his fist slaking.

At Sociock in the evening a newsboy rang the door bell and fold the Doctor that he was wanted immediately by a man at Second avenue and Eighty-sixth street. The Doctor had his suspicions, and, giving the boy 20 cents, he told him to get a policeman. With the policeman he went to the corner. There was no one there. The newsboy, who had described the man as looking like Edwards, said that he had gone on seeing Dr. Bauer coming with a policeman.

HOW LEEDS RECOVERED.

His Escape Attributed to His Condition and the Fortunate Presence of a Doctor. Those who were directly concerned in the Leeds-Everhardt fight at Maspeth on Monday night were thanking their stars yesterday that the battle did not end fatally. At one time, when Leeds lay unconscious on a board in his dressing room, it was feared that he would not recover, and that in case of such an unfortunate ending, wholesale arrests would be made. and glove contests hereabout would cease Leeds can attribute his recovery to two fortunate circumstances. One was that a capable physician was present to care for him, and the stiff one, knocking Vernon off his pins. Both men lost their heads and began wrest-ling. They both feli. The referee, Capt. Bill Daly, sent them to their corners before the end of the round. Handler showed up in much better shape for the second round and made a show of Vernon. He knocked him down several times with right swings on the jaw, and he had the "brickmaker" in such a state that the ref-Handler.

The most interesting event of the evening was that between Charley Strong of Newark and Dick Baker of Paterson, two colored heavy weights. They put up the livellest kind of a fight for twelve rounds, and at the end the reference could not decide on the winner.

The first bout was between Jack Guerin of New York and Sammy Campbell, better known as "Manley's Coon." They met for eight rounds at catch weights. In the first round Guerin did most of the leading and had the advantage.

colored boy. The latter got the gaff too much for his liking, and claimed that the "Pick" hit him below the belt. He was carried from the ring and examined by two physicians, who declared that he was uninjured. The decision was given to the "Pickanning."

Hob McQuade received the decision on points against Connie Sullivan.

the very hot exchanges in the remaining rounds and in the last two rounds Guerin was very weak. Campbell won Frank l'atterson of Brooklyn was to have met Charley Burns of New York next for eight rounds at 125 pounds, but Patterson begged off, giving as an excuse a lame hand, and Maxey Haugh of Brooklyn took his place for six rounds. Haugh was by far the heavier, and rushed his man from the start. Burns planted some good body nunches and countered and ducked eleverly. It was a draw.

The stellar bout on the programme followed, Joe Hopkin-of New York, colored, facing Tommy Butler of Brooklyn for eight rounds at 128 pounds. Butler looked away over the announced limit of weight. It was one of the closest and most interesting fights seen is a long time. They got right to work, and fought from the sound of the bell to the end. Butler drew the blood from Hopkins's nose and had him very weak, but the colored boy railled and punished Butler savagely about the body. Almost every time Hopkins rushed in he was met with both left and right. The verdict was a draw.

Peter Maher's Eyes Greatly Affected. It was learned yesterday that Peter Maher is n danger of losing his sight. Ever since he got alkali in his eyes, while training for his late battle with Bob Fitzsimmons, they have been quite painful, and physicians are of the opinion that he will be compelled to wear strong glasses. Oculists who have examined Feter's eyes an-nounce that they are greatly affected. The red lining of the lower lid of his left eye has com-
